What a Character®
Mold F7

2" Storykeeper Face
also known as
The Storykeeper

Designed by Maureen Carlson

Maureen used this face for her Storykeeper Doll Pattern.

Produced by Wee Folk Creations
What a Character® Flexible Push Molds

A Few Simple Tips and Tricks for Using Your New What a Character® Flexible Push Mold

This mold is perfect for use with both polymer and air-drying clays or modeling compounds. If your clay is especially soft and sticky, you may need to brush the mold prior to each use with a very light dusting of cornstarch or baby powder. Be sure and brush out any excess powder.

Roll a 1 ¼ to 1 ½-inch ball of clay into a short cone shape. Use fingers to press cone into a smooth, flattened cone shape.

Place point of flattened cone into nose cavity, then press clay towards sides of mold, being careful so that it doesn’t shift in mold. Back should be concave.

To remove clay from mold, use a second piece of clay as a handle to pull face straight out from mold.

Use the Storykeeper Face as it comes from mold.

Use The Storykeeper Face for completing the Storykeeper Doll pattern available on our website: www.weefolk.com/misc_list.htm

©2012 by Wee Folk Creations
Option 1. Compress face to make it shorter.

Option 2. Compress face to make it narrower.

Option 3. Use a knitting needle to indent nostrils.

Option 4. Add seed beads for eyes, and then compress face slightly to fold eyelids over edges of bead.

Option 5. Use sharp needle tool to accentuate lines and wrinkles, and then compress face slightly to exaggerate those lines. Try using a small paintbrush as a sculpting tool to blend and smooth clay.

Painting eyes: Some of the finished faces in the cover illustration have painted eyes. Maureen uses acrylic paint beginning with white, then adding a dot for the black
Make a variety of faces with our Puzzle Face™ Molds
Mix and Match the pieces.

PF1
with Rugged Chin and Masculine Brow

PF2
with Smiling Face and Elfin Ears

PF3
with Full Lips and Feminine Brow

PF4
with Flashing Smile and 4 eye variations

Watch Maureen's Puzzle Face™ mold video (pfvd)

Watch Maureen's Magical, Marvelous Masks video (dvdmasks)

www.weefolk.com
800-wee-folk